

As a business person and Million Miler I hope that cellular telephone use will NOT be allowed on airborne aircraft. With the background noise on aircraft and the general tendency for cell phone users to speak louder on cell phone than in normal conversation, I can only imagine that the noise level will increase to the point that flying will be a less desirable means of travel.